

THE WAR FOR WAGES.

IRON WORKERS STRIKING IN LARGE NUMBERS.

Lively Star Route Session—Big Land Scheme—The New York Herald Libel Case—Other Interesting News.

Workmen on the Rampage.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 1.—A Herald special from Erie reports that 250 puddlers of the Mount Hickory rolling mills will strike to-morrow for an advance of fifty cents a ton.

THE BAYVIEW DIFFICULTY.

MILWAUKEE, June 1.—The mill men at Bayview, near Milwaukee, are out, and the strike has actually begun. A meeting of the men last evening was attended by the members of the union in a body, and speeches and enthusiastic applause was the general order. This morning the Merchant Bar and Irish plate mills were stopped, and the rail mill is now the only one that is running. The demand for iron rails has been, and is, very light, and the prospect is that a long strike will follow. The puddle mill was stopped last Saturday evening; not on account of the anticipated trouble, but because there is an over supply of puddle bar on hand, sufficient to run the rail and merchant mills from three to six months.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 1.—The iron and nail mills of this city and vicinity shut down this evening for an indefinite time, the proposition having been refused to sign a new scale of wages for the employees, which would take effect to-morrow. The Whittaker sheet iron mills signed the scale this evening, and will be the only mill in operation to-morrow. By this stoppage 5,000 men will be thrown out of employment here. Both parties are firm, and the outlook is gloomy in the extreme.

IMPORTED LABOR.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 1.—One hundred miners, mostly Austrians, for the Consolidated coal company, arrived to-day and were immediately placed under police protection.

STRIKE OF SAW MILL HANDS.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Love, of the universal peace commission, and a large number of members of the commission, called upon Secretary Teller and formally thanked him for the position he has taken on the Indian question, but more especially with regard to his recommending the division of the Indians and his practical treatment which will tend to prevent Indian wars.

PORTER'S RESTORATION.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Gen. Logan expects his minority report on the Porter case to be approved by Senators Hawley and Harrison, and says that Senator Hawley informed him that he is in accord with its main proposition. The majority report, which accompanies the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter, recites the history of the case, the court martial and subsequent board of review, and alludes to the memorial of Gen. Porter, heretofore published, and concludes as follows: "The action of President Arthur in remitting the unexpired portion of the sentence of Gen. Porter is based upon a review of the findings of the board. This relieves the present application of Gen. Porter for restoration to the army from the objection that congress would be revising the sentence of the court martial. So much of the sentence as the president has power to act upon having been by him remitted, it now remains for congress to perform that act of justice which the report of the board emphatically recommended." The report concludes: "Having given these reasons for our conclusions we have the honor to report in accordance with the president's order that in our opinion justice requires at his hands such action as may be necessary to annul and set aside the findings and sentence of the court martial in the case of Gen. Fitz John Porter, and to restore him to the position of which that sentence deprived him, such restoration to take effect from the date of his dismissal from the service. Sewell's bill authorizes the appointment of Fitz John Porter to the position of colonel in the army with the grade and rank held by him at the time of his dismissal from the army, providing he shall receive no pay, compensation or allowance whatever for the time intervening between his dismissal from the service and his appointment under this act.

CONFIRMATIONS.

THE GARFIELD HOSPITAL.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The committee of twenty-five that had charge of the affairs of the Garfield hospital held a meeting to-day, and after settling up their affairs the receipts were formally turned over.

Star Route Matters.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The following jury was obtained to-day in the star route cases: William Dickson, foreman; M. McNally, John B. McCarthy, Edwin J. McKin, William K. Brown (colored), Edwin D. Donahue, Henry M. Oleott, William Holman, Thomas Martin (colored), G. W. Cox, E. T. Murray and Z. O'Brien. Merrick asked the court to caution the jury against having any intercourse with any parties relative to these cases. He also desired them to abstain from reading newspapers, and he criticized several attacks made by local newspapers upon the prosecution. Judge Wylie said perhaps he should consider it his duty to bring these newspaper attacks to the attention of the grand jury. Mr. Totten said the defendants might claim the same privilege. If anybody had been vilified, he said, it was the defense, and he made a bitter attack upon what he called lying newspaper correspondents, who had been sent here from day to day. A jury having been selected Wilson said he would now present his motion to compel the prosecution to elect which cases they would proceed with—those against public officers, or those against citizens. This motion had already been passed upon, and was now again overruled by the court. In answer to an inquiry from the prosecution Judge Wylie said they should have the opening argument, and it was urged that Bliss should give an explanation at length to the jury of the particulars of the cases, and should state what the government expected to prove. The court also added that the defense would be allowed but one opening argument by one of their counsel. "It is my intention to bring these cases to a close before July 24," said Judge Wylie, "even if we have to sit up all night, and Saturdays to do it." Still, he thought the usual court hours would suffice. Adjourned till to-morrow.

DANENHOWER'S WELCOME.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Lieutenant Danenhower arrived this evening and was met at the depot by a committee of citizens and escorted to a hotel, where he was given a cordial welcome and presented with a model in flowers of the lost Jeannette. Danenhower, responding to some addresses, said he was overwhelmed by the streams of congratulations and friendly affections that he found himself utterly unable to express his grateful appreciation. After the reception Danenhower was accompanied home by a committee.

A Gigantic Project.

CHICAGO, June 1.—A gigantic land and colonization scheme was completed here to-day. This morning the Duke of Manchester and President Stephens, of the Canada Pacific, came from the west and met R. B. Angus, vice president of the Canada Pacific railway, and Mr. Scarth, of Cochrane, Scarth & Co., of Toronto. Besides these, parties interested include Robert Terrant, of Leeds, England, Mr. Todd, of the firm of W. F. Kennedy & Co., New York, representing a Scotch and Canada Pacific syndicate, in fact, practically all the large land syndicates, besides capitalists in Paris, London, Montreal, New York, and other points, who are interested in the scheme. The plan, as outlined here to-day, with the Duke of Manchester as president, is as follows: The syndicate represents a capital of $150,000,000. It proposes to buy $9,000,000 of unsold bonds of the Canada Pacific road, now held by the Bank of Montreal, and take a second issue of $6,000,000 bonds of the road not yet in the market, paying par for them. In turn the Canada Pacific agrees to accept these bonds in payment for lands granted it by the Canadian government, which are to be taken chiefly in the Saskatchewan country at the rate of $1.10 per acre. The grant to the Canada Pacific was 25,000,000 acres, of which 22,000,000 acres remain unsold. The combination propose to take 11,000,000 acres on the terms mentioned. Connected with this is an immense colonization scheme, including, among other things, the erection of farm-houses for settlers unable to build, and to be sold to them on easy terms. It is stated that one of the effects of the scheme will be to insure the early completion of the Canada Pacific road.

President Villard Coming.

CHICAGO, June 1.—President Henry Villard, of the North Pacific, and President Angus, of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railways, held a conference here to-day relative to harmonious working relations between the two roads at junction points in Minnesota and Dakota. Terms were agreed on, and there will be no cutting of rates. It is understood that verbal agreements were made as to certain extensions of both roads. Villard and a number of German bankers interested in the North Pacific, left this morning for a trip to the end of the track.

They Won't Work.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 31.—A paper was presented to all the mills of the Mahoning valley to-day. All refused to sign, and no work will be done in any of them to-morrow. Brown, Bunnell & Co. have ordered all their furnaces and coal mines to be closed down. This strike will throw 10,000 men out of employment in this valley alone.

Promising Reports.

KEOKUK, Iowa, May 31.—Reports from nearly every county in the state are partially a repetition of previous advices. Small Another Brutal Outrage.

ROCHESTER, May 31.—A report comes from Dover Center that Frank Radlidge, sixteen years old, committed an outrage on Minnie Harvey, four years of age. Radlidge enticed her into a granary near Harvey's house and made the assault there. Mrs. Harvey, hearing a noise, opened the granary door and saw Frank in the act, holding his hand over Minnie's mouth to stifle her cries for help. As soon as he was discovered he fled. In a short time a crowd was hunting him with the full intent of lynching him, but he eluded them and effected his escape. Minnie was seriously injured and was confined to her bed several days.

A California Town in Ashes.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—The loss by fire at Willow's this morning is estimated at about $175,000. Nearly the entire business portion of the town, including all the hotels, were consumed. Private families are providing for the homeless temporarily. There were no facilities for fighting the flames which ran their course unchecked. There were a number of explosions of stored gunpowder and cartridges during the fire, but with no serious injury. No loss of life is reported. A number of Chinese are known to have stolen goods during the confusion and several were arrested.

Mineral Exhibition.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Secretary Reynolds, of the Chicago inter-state industrial exposition, has arranged for a continental collection and exhibition of ores, minerals, mining implements, etc., to be conducted on an extensive scale, under the auspices of the western mining bureau, of Chicago. Specimen ores of the important mines of the United States, British America and Mexico will be exhibited.

Seeds for the Needy.

MEMPHIS, May 3.—The carload of garden seeds, valued at $1,000, donated by Hiram Sibley and company, Rochester, N. Y., to the sufferers from the overflow in the Missouri valley, and forwarded free of charge by the Erie Dispatch from Rochester, was received to-day by J. E. Bersley, secretary of the Red Cross society of Memphis. The seeds have been stored, and their distribution commenced by the committee of the Red Cross association in Memphis.

Getting it Down Fine.

MILWAUKEE, May 30.—The north Chicago rolling mill men at Bayview, near Milwaukee, expect to go out on a strike June 1st. Interviews with a large number of them to-day resulted in obtaining expressions to the effect that unless the regulations now pending at the general conference terminate favorably to the men, all the iron workers in the country will strike June 1. There are about two thousand men at Bayview.

On the Road to Recovery.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A letter just received here from Eureka Springs, Ark., says that Senator Ben Hill will probably recover his health entirely. He is eating solid food, and is able to sit up and converse with callers. Several bones, two or three inches long, have been taken from his jaw.

Finance "Philosophers."

TRENTON, N. J., May 30.—The state green-back convention met to-day, every county except one being represented. The platform adopted endorses that made at Chicago, denounces the national banking system and corporations and land monopoly, and demands the revision of the tariff and protection of the rights of laborers. Among the speakers was ex-Congressman Gillette.

Decidedly Warlike.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1.—The khedive has a telegram stating that the Ottoman commissioners will start for Egypt without waiting for a conference with the French. Earthworks are thrown up at Gohony. Three hundred and ninety-four cases of cartridges have been landed. Troops are in the barracks, where they hold excited meetings, demanding that Hallim Pasha be immediately declared khedive. Military officers swagger about the streets in the most offensive manner.

A "Bawston" Blowout.

BOSTON, June 1.—There were 900 guests at the tables, and the galleries were filled with spectators, at the annual festival of the American association. In the Commons.

The Garfield Monument.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Decoration day contributions to the Garfield monument fund in this city on 600 subscription lists, include over 2,000 names.

Court Adjourns.

The district court adjourned Wednesday having been in session two days. The case of Smith vs. Martin, claim of plaintiff for $625 was settled, the jury returning a verdict for $288. Martin will probably appeal. In the case of John Warn vs. McLean & Macnider for the possession of the lot upon which the defendants' store is located, the court sustained the demurrer to plaintiff's complaint. The judge then adjourned court stating that a special term would be called August 22d. There was a medium sized civil calendar to be tried at this term but the judge thought, considering the fact that the legislature in fixing the term of the district court had overlooked the fact that the term of the supreme court was nearly at the same time as the district court, and as parties having cases being uncertain as to the time when district court would be called, were not prepared for trial.

Can't Stand the Torture.

A gentleman in Lansing, Mich., who paid Bismarck a visit recently, and subscribed for the TRIBUNE for three months, hoping at the expiration of that time he would be able to wind up his business affairs in the Wolverine state and come to Dakota, writes: "Your card notifying me of the expiration of my subscription, just received, and am sorry that it is so; yet I thought it must soon expire, and supposed the paper would be stopped without notice. Were I certain of yet getting to that 'land of pure delight,' (Dakota), I should want to continue my subscription, but it is equal to the hades of the New Version to read of the experiences in your country and yet be unable to enjoy them. So, please discontinue my paper. M. J. B.

Note this Comparison.

The Fargo postoffice issued 108 money orders last week—$1,495.10; paid out fifty-nine amounting to $963.07. The Bismarck postoffice during the same time issued 136 orders—$2,179.38; paid out thirty orders—$1,000.18. A difference in favor of Bismarck—money orders issued, $684.26; money orders paid, $37.11.

THE NEWS CORRALLED

FOR THE INSPECTION OF TRIBUNE READERS.

From the Big Capital—Gov. Crittenden's Parley with Frank James—The Speck of War in Egypt—Etc., Etc.

Frank James and Gov. Crittenden.

St. Louis, May 30.—The statements published yesterday about the proposed or probable surrender of Frank James, the noted train robber, and of immunity from punishment for his crimes being granted him by Gov. Crittenden, have caused a good deal of comment here and elsewhere, and several contradictions and denials have been made, but notwithstanding these and the non-committal attitude assumed by Gov. Crittenden, there are several circumstances in the case which lead almost directly to the conclusion that negotiations are really in progress having that end in view. The fact that Frank's wife has returned to her father's home with the avowed intention of staying there; that his sister, Mrs. Allen Palmer, has arrived from Texas; and that Mrs. Samuels, his mother, has visited Mrs. James, and is probably now in Jefferson City, indicates that some unusual if not extraordinary movement or event is looked for by the family. Further, Mr. R. J. Haine, of Kansas City, the attorney of Mrs. Jesse James, who has been here several days, and is well acquainted with most of the affairs of the James family, asserts that the statements made yesterday are correct except that neither Sheriff Timberlake or Commissioner Craig are concerned in the negotiations with Governor Crittenden; that he (Haine) is conducting them in behalf of several friends of Frank, who are men of position and influence, and deeply interested in bringing about an arrangement under which Frank can settle down and become a peaceful citizen. Haine further says that Governor Crittenden has given a written promise that he will pardon Frank if he surrenders within a certain time, and is convicted on trial, and that this letter is in possession of Frank's friends, and perhaps Frank now has it himself. Frank has not yet surrendered, however, nor does Haine claim to know that he will give himself up. But there seems to be no doubt that efforts are being made by his friends to induce him to do so, and interesting developments are likely to be made within a few days.

KANSAS CITY, May 30.—Mrs. Samuels, the mother of Frank James, acknowledged to-day that she and Frank's wife, who has recently come here, are going to the capital next week to intercede for Frank's pardon. She is confident of success.

Washington Affairs.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Secretary Teller has just made an important ruling in regard to the construction hereafter to be placed upon the act of June 1, 1873, authorizing citizens of Colorado, Nevada and the territories to remove timber from the public domains for domestic purposes. The department has construed the words "for domestic purposes" to mean the cutting of timber by individuals for their own use and not for sale. Numerous suits have been brought and many are now pending upon this basis. Secretary Teller holds that to take this view is to defeat the very intent of the act, which was to provide a way by which needed timber for mines, mills and pioneer towns can be legally obtained.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The quartermaster general, commissary general and third auditor of the senate committee on appropriations, have concluded their consideration of the house army appropriation bill and the measure as amended will be reported to the senate by Logan, Wednesday. The aggregate amount of appropriations provided for in the house bill was reduced several hundred thousand dollars by the senate committee and the retirement clauses of the house bill have been changed materially. This appropriation bill provides that after Dec. 1, 1882, when an officer has served 40 years, either as an officer or a soldier in the regular or volunteer service, or both, he shall on application to the president be relieved from active service, and placed on the retired list; and when an officer is 62 years old he shall be relieved from active service and placed on the retired list, provided the general of the army shall be retired on full pay.

The War-Cloud in Egypt.

LONDON, May 30.—A dispatch from Berlin says much surprise is evinced at the fact that the United States government have sent two men of war to Alexandria. The Germans consider American interference unnecessary. A dispatch from Cairo says the British government has ordered four men of war and a gunboat to proceed from Suda bay to Alexandria. Arabi Bey has privately informed the Khedive that he is already deposed, and that it is arranged that Prince Hallim will succeed him. A dispatch from Alexandria reports all the banks exporting their specie and valuables. ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 30.—The British community have appealed to the British consul for greater security against disorderly soldiery. The joint fleet can only spare 300 men to meet the garrison of 2,000, which is daily becoming more exasperating.

A REMEDY SUGGESTED.

Monday there was no little uneasiness on account of a rumor that orders had been given for the western trains to take meals at Mandan instead of Bismarck. Several transfers of real estate were knocked higher than Beecher's Life of our Savior (Sam Wilkinson's view) and building was likely to be much discouraged. After further consideration, however, the arrangements were found to be impracticable and trains were ordered to stop at Bismarck for meals as before.

If this contemplated move serves to make our business men unite in efforts to encourage outside capital to come in and engage in manufacturing or business and, in securing protection for it; to encourage the settlement of our farming lands, and the building up of tributary villages along the Missouri; if it serves to create a public sentiment that will run off those who lie in wait to blackmail or rob by more direct means persons who come with a view to locating, and thus improve the standing of our city in the eyes of the outside world, and silence the sometimes only too just criticisms that our neighbors are wont to make in relation to us, it will serve a good purpose.

Bismarck's location is all that can be desired for a great and prosperous city. Its enemies or rivals may represent it as they please the fact remains that it is on the business side of the Missouri river. The powers that run trains and ferries may, it is true, hold its growth in check for a time, but as Guiteau would remark God Almighty will win in the end.

Moorhead remained lifeless for six years. It was dazed by Fargo's prosperity. One fine morning its business men woke up to a realizing sense of the power that may be reached, and wielded by active minds and hearts and hands, ready to do and dare. Behold the change!

The Bismarck National Bank has taken the lead. Let the First National Bank, McKenzie, McLean & Macnider, Griffin, Hare and others who are well to do, follow its example and erect brick blocks. Let there be less thought of two per cent a month, of faro and the price of beer, and more of the interests that add value to property; that tend to benefit society and make our city desirable for families.

The schools should receive more attention and better buildings should be erected, and persons having families should be encouraged in the hope that their children may be given at Bismarck the best educational facilities.

Manufacturing, which brings with it families, will be worth everything to the city, and manufacturing interests only need encouraging and they will come. To grumble or threaten is worse than useless. The way to build a city is to build it, and when we commence to do this for Bismarck and cease to expect assistance from the railroad company, or anybody else, and to prosper (as we can, no matter if trains are run through without a stop, even), the quicker will we gain from the North Pacific the concessions we deserve, or attract the attention of other roads that will give us the facilities that belong to us. That our people should be uneasy is natural. The disposition shown to transfer the river business to the west side of the river (which was not done, nor is it likely to be), the fact that shipments of flour, grain and lumber are made to Mandan at the same rate as to Bismarck, while there is a charge of $10 a car more from Bismarck than from Mandan to points west, gives abundant reason for uneasiness, but there is a remedy. Moorhead business men found it within themselves, and our people should go and do likewise, omitting, until there is cause for it, the active opposition to the road which almost every citizen of Moorhead holds to be a religious duty.

THE PLACE TO LOCATE.

There are many reasons why settlers should locate on the Missouri slope in the Bismarck Land District. There is now the best opportunity in the country for the selection of a home in this district. The soil is excellent, the water good, and climate fine. Scarcely an acre, compared with the whole of the 51,000 square miles comprised in this district, has been taken. Half of this land can be had free under the homestead, pre-emption and tree claim laws. The Missouri river passes on its winding course to its connection with the father of waters six hundred miles through this land district. The stream is navigable for the largest steamers. Its banks are skirted with timber, and here are broad and fertile valleys and plains equal to the best on the face of the earth for grain or stock growing. The whole valley is practically vacant. The market for the products of the soil will always be good in Bismarck, and scores of towns are sure to spring up at different points along the river and railroad in the district. Look at your map and observe how advantageously Bismark is located. Ask any of the early settlers that sparsely inhabit the district what they think of the land. The country is yet new because it was not until last year that the Indian question was settled. The surrender of Sitting Bull and his braves marked a new era in the history of North Dakota. One thing may always be depended upon—Indians and buffalo only rove on the best tracts of land. The Bismarck land district now open to settlement was the favorite resort and home of both of those creatures. Only a few miles above Bismarck, buried deep in the mounds of an ancient Indian village, may be found burnt corn cobs, showing that years ago the Indian cultivated successfully the Rice corn.

This entire valley comes under the influences of the warm winds from the Pacific coast, which give it a climate far more favorable than that of Minnesota, Wisconsin or northern Iowa. The country is peculiarly adapted to wheat and cereals of all kinds. Wheat ranges from eighteen to thirty-six bushels per acre, and oats average about fifty. The grain is brighter and heavier than any grown elsewhere in the United States. In winter the skies are bright, and pleasant weather is the general rule. The snowfall is light and it never rains. Timber—oak, ash, maple, elm and cottonwood—is abundant. The water is pure and healthful. Bottoms affording an abundance of hay are frequent. From one end of this valley to the other stock feed and grow fat summer and winter without provision for fodder—on the nutritious buffalo grass, common to the country.

The climate being all that can be desired, the soil exceedingly rich in all the elements that produce good grain, and the rainfall being abundant at just the time it is most needed, brands this section of the United States as the best and most desirable place in which to locate and build up a new home.

PROBABLY no region in the world has as many charms as the National Yellowstone Park. When the North Pacific railroad reaches a point opposite the park, so that tourists can reach the spot without too much fatigue, then thousands of people will annually visit the region from all parts of the world. It is rumored that the branch line to the park will leave the main line of the North Pacific at Billings instead of Benson's Landing, because of the much easier grade. If this becomes a settled fact, then Billings will become quite a railroad centre, as it is almost certain that a line will be built from that point to Benton, via the Maginnis mining region. The New Northwest speaks as follows of the mountain region through which the road runs: "The most striking characteristic of the Rocky mountain region, south of the Yellowstone and tributary to the North Pacific road, is its system of parks. No description can do justice to those in the Big Horn and Clark's Fork ranges. The mountains are not crowded together into rugged and inaccessible peaks, but spread out over wide spaces, with extensive meadows and valleys between, from 7,000 to 9,000 feet high. These have easy communication with each other. Sheltered by surrounding hills and forests, and supplied with every requisite for the grazing business, they will be utilized for the feeding of stock in summer, when pasturage fails at other places. These parks are everywhere covered with a thick growth of the most nutritious grasses; among them, fescue, hairbunch, meadow, brome, alpine timothy, feather, beard, bunch and quick. The proportion in which these grasses grow varies; but as a rule the bunch grasses prevail, and the better kinds, as fescue, meadow, alpine timothy and beard grass. As the season is later or earlier, according to the altitude, animals can find fresh green grass all through the month of August, by following up near the line. Elk and deer go up as soon as the snow melts to the cool air and fresh grass of the parks, where they spend the summer and stay till driven back by the storms in the fall. The parks of these mountains offer pasturage for thousands of cattle in the middle and latter part of summer, when it is dried up or burned off on the plains; and it will be easy to get herds in or out from the first of July to the end of September."

Why cannot a high school building costing, say from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, be built in Bismarck this season? Has not the school board the authority to issue bonds? If it has, then the board has a chance to compliment Bismarck with an institution for which the whole community will be truly thankful. An experienced architect can arrange the plans of a building to occupy the six lots now owned by the school, in such a manner that the present building will form part of the whole. Other towns of less importance on the line of the road are building fine school edifices. Why shouldn't Bismarck? For several years the Burleigh county school fund was not credited with the percentage of taxes to which it was justly and legally entitled, but now that this irregularity has been remedied, the school fund is in good shape, and school bonds could be readily disposed of. A fine school building would not only be a credit to the city but it has become a necessity. At this particular stage of Bismarck's existence, every public building that can be built should receive immediate attention. People coming to the city in search of investments or for the purpose of making it their home, will be much more impressed with the town if they see an occasional brick block going up. It would prove to them the confidence that the citizens have in their own town.

As Col. Brown quotes, "The mills of the Gods grind slow but grind exceedingly fine." A Bismarck despatch of the 26th says: "A letter was received to-night by a Bismarck merchant from a prominent railroad official stating that the Northwestern road would finish a survey to this point immediately and that it was not improbable that the road would be built this year. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul surveyed to within twenty-five miles of Bismarck, last fall, and the bulk of immigration now being to point's west of the Red river valley and to the Missouri slope, coupled with the fact that an enormous quantity of government supplies is annually shipped from here to various Northwestern military posts via the river, it would seem that these roads want a slice of the business. Besides, both Chicago and Milwaukee are anxious to get some of the Dakota No. 1 hard wheat, now shipped almost entirely via the North Pacific to Minneapolis and Duluth.

THE Fargo Republican takes the following sensible view of the Turtle Mountain Indian question: "A report comes from the Turtle Mountain regions that the Indians there are on the war path. They object to the whites coming in and settling. There is a rumor afloat, though not generally credited, that between twenty and thirty whites have been massacred. There are not over two hundred and fifty Turtle Mountain Indians, bucks, half-breeds, squaws and papooses. They are a set of thieving, cowardly vagabonds, and it is not likely that they have commenced a fight unless they are backed up by braver and more warlike Indians from across the line, which is probably the case. It is time that the whole region claimed by this remnant of the Chippewa nation should be opened to settlement. Let the government remove the vagabonds and provide for them if necessary, but not permit them longer to keep away from settles 9,000,000 acres of the best wheat land in the world."

THE report from the Maginnis mines published elsewhere comes from an old resident of Bismarck. Lee Eisenberg also well known in this city writes the TRIBUNE that the reports of that region as published from time to time in the TRIBUNE, are true in every particular but that it is not the place for a man without a cent.

THE Brainerd Daily News and the Daily Tribune have consolidated, and now comes forth the Evening Journal. Brainerd is a good town, but the TRIBUNE has no use for a paper that uses "snakes" in a good town. Better hire another printer and abandon the "plate" scheme.

They say Bismarck has a mule that will stop kicking when the Lord's Prayer is recited to him.—Mandan postage stamp. This test would be applied to the mule who edits the Mandan paper, provided there was a man in that city conversant with the Lord's Prayer.

THE Minneapolis Journal says Col. Donan has written a book in St. Louis, of which 200,000 will be printed. The book will be an interesting one as it will tell what Donan knows about southern belles, and he knows a great deal.

JAMESTOWN will not get a land office, this year. Delegate Pettigrew has worked zealously for the scheme but the opposition is too strong.

BUT few people have any idea of the cost of transmitting messages by trans-Atlantic cable. The New York Herald pays from two to five hundred dollars a day for this kind of news alone and often as high as $1,000. The new schedule of rates went into effect on the 23d. The rate to Europe is now fifty cents per word, instead of twenty-five cents, which has been the rate since August last. The newspaper rate remains unaltered—twelve and one-half cents per word. It has already been announced that Mrs. DeLong has received $50,000 in government bonds from Mr. Bennett, which will yield her an income of $2,000 a year; and this is a more generous pension than she would have received had her husband gone with a government expedition and lost his life. In addition to this she will receive $360 per year from the government.

At an evening party in Kelkheim, in Germany, a few weeks ago, the question arose as to how many kisses could be exchanged between two lovers within a certain space of time. A youth offered to bet anybody present fifty dollars that he and his betrothed would kiss one another ten thousand times within ten hours, provided they were permitted to partake of some slight refreshment at intervals of half an hour during the performance. His wager having been accepted, the affianced couple addressed themselves to the achievement of their task. At the expiration of the first hour their account stood credited with 2,000 kisses. During the second hour they added another 1,000, and during the third 750 to that number. Then they both broke down. The youth's lips were stricken with cramp, and the maiden fainted away. Later on in the evening she was compelled to take to her bed with a sharp attack of neuralgia. An even more distressing result ensued, for it led to the breaking off, by mutual consent, of the matrimonial engagement.

THE delicate sensibilities of the editor of the Deadwood Times is shown in the following from the Times of the 17th: "For filth and nastiness, the city hall takes the cake, as a more disgusting, dirty, ill-smelling place cannot be found anywhere than the dive dignified by the title of city hall. The room always is bad enough, but when the council meets then it fairly blossoms, and a Chinese house is a fairy palace compared to it. At such time everybody is sure to be on hand with the vilest of cigars or the poorest of tobacco, and in a few minutes the air is thick with the clouds of smoke coming from the Regalia de Bullwacker, or from pipes laden with plug and other tobacco, of the quality usually given away in country grocery stores. For fear that the place will not be sufficing enough all the windows and doors are closed as tightly as a millionaire's heart, while the stench and smoke continually increases. We have been in Indian tepees, Chinese houses, emigrant cars, dugouts and other places supposed to be bad smelling and filthy, but never yet found a place that would come anywhere near city hall. For the benefit of their own health we would suggest to the honorable mayor and aldermen that they prohibit smoking during the session of the council."

Indian Wives.

The Portland Polaris furnishes the following interesting account of the ways of the dusky maidens:

Among the northwestern tribes of Indians, innocence is as marked among the girls as their color. The impression that the red maiden does not entertain a high standard of morality is an error, for she is taught as other girls are, and grows up with well-developed ideas of the responsibilities of life and a firm resolution to discharge them. Educated in the faith that she was ordained to work, she trains herself to undergo hard labor, and at sixteen years of age is sturdy and strong, brave against fatigue and a perfect housewife.

She may not possess New England notions of cleanliness, but she takes not a little pride in her personal appearance, and in the arrangement of her lodge she displays some crude ideas of taste and a certain amount of neatness. If she marries a white man, she makes him a good wife as long as she lives with him. His home is her sole comfort, and his comfort her sole ambition. She thinks of him and for him, and makes it her study to please him and make him respect and love her. She recognizes in him one of a superior race, and by her dignity and devotion endears herself to him and struggles to make him happy.

At the agencies of the upper frontier, thousands of men are employed, and it is not an exaggeration to say that the majority of them have Indian wives and live happily. They are not sought after by the maidens, for the Indian girl's custom is to remain quiet until after the marriage contract is made, and the marriage portion paid over. The husband must have the dowry, with which he must invest his projected mother-in-law before the ceremony takes place. The process is a little out of the usual run, and a description may be of interest.

The aspiring bridegroom must be well known in the tribe before he can hope to win a wife. Her people want to thoroughly understand him, and know if he can support not only her, but also her relatives in the event of a pinch. He must be a kind-hearted man, with a temper warranted to keep, in any domestic climate, and he must have a good lodge and at least half a dozen horses. If he be and have all these, he can accomplish the selecting the lady, he makes an application to her mother, and at a council the price is fixed upon.

If the girl be especially pretty her mother will demand a gun, two horses, and a lot of provision, blankets and cloth. A gun is valued at $50, a horse at $20, and he must furnish in addition to bring the amount up to from $100 to $150. Then he tries to beat the dame down, and if he succeeds he knows that he has made a good thing for letting the girl go, and he understands that he is making a good choice. The courtship is left entirely to the mother.

AN URGENT REQUEST.

Made to Open Up the Sioux Reservation for Settlement.

At a meeting held at McLaughlin's hall, Deadwood, D. T., Saturday, May 6, 1882, pursuant to a call published in all of the papers of the Black Hills counties, looking to the extinguishment of the Indian title to the great Sioux reservation in Dakota, (or all but what is actually necessary for the use of the Sioux band of Indians.) The following proceedings were had:

The meeting was called to order by A. J. Plowman, and A. S. Stewart, of Deadwood, was duly elected chairman, and Hany Utley, secretary.

The chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting, and on motion a committee of five on resolutions were appointed by the chair, consisting of Porter Warner, A. J. Plowman, Job Lawrenson, W. W. Giddings and S. P. Romans. The committee submitted the following preamble and resolutions.

Whereas, A movement has been inaugurated and made public in the Hills counties within the past two weeks, having for its object the opening of the great Sioux reservation, in this territory to the exclusive use of stock growers, for grazing purposes; and it is claimed that this can be done without any action of congress, that a lease from said Indians, approved by the interior department or by the superintendent of Indian affairs, is all that will be required to make such lease valid and of creative.

Whereas, Committees have been appointed and are now at work, charged with the duty of securing the execution of such lease; and said committees were appointed at a public meeting held at Deadwood, D. T., at which but few were present, and which is believed to have been called in the exclusive interest of stock growers, and since such meeting was held considerable discussion has been had by the press, and the people of this section of the country.

Whereas, The Sioux reservation is in the heart of the territory of Dakota, and is as large or larger than the great state of New York, and includes a vast area of valuable agricultural and grazing lands, equal to any in the world, and is surrounded by growing and prosperous communities; on the west by the Black Hills counties, which, in addition to their agricultural resources are the seat of the richest mineral deposits of the whole continent.

Whereas, These counties are now separated by said reservation on the east, from all settlements in the eastern part of the territory, and all commercial traffic has to be carried on over and across said reservation, and that said reservation is detrimental to the approach of any and all railroads traversing this portion of Dakota, and believing, as we do, that fully seven-eighths of the people of Dakota territory are in favor of extinguishing the Indian title to said reservation, and are opposed to the leasing policy for the purpose stated.

Whereas, The leasing said reservation to the exclusive use of stock growers would give a privileged few an absolute monopoly of an area of territory equal in size to the great state of New York, and would require a complete change in the law and rules of the government in the control of Indian affairs and Indian reservations.

Whereas, It is estimated that 1,000,000 head of cattle can be pastured upon said reservation, and will be in a very short time if the proposed lease can be secured, and that, at a low estimate, will be worth $15 per head, amounting in the aggregate to $15,000,000, which will represent the untaxed, and in the nature of things, untaxable capital that should have the exclusive use and occupancy of the reservation. This powerful influence once established will be exerted and used to continue the lease and perpetuate its monopoly for many years to come, to the great damage to those who would, if the reservation was removed, become the actual occupants of said lands, under the homestead and pre-emption laws, and every public interest will be promoted by such a policy, and be injured by the leasing policy. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the right of the Indians to the reservation should be extinguished absolutely and speedily (to all save a reasonable area for their actual occupancy), and every interest which is worthy of consideration, appeals to congress in behalf of this result. The growing demands of the people, stimulated by the advanced tide of unprecedented mining upon demand it.

Resolved, That we urge all those in authority and all upon all the people of Dakota, to aid in securing the opening of the Sioux reservation to actual settlers, at the earliest possible time, and to prevent stock growers from leasing the same, to be held, and used by them, in the interest of private monopoly, and to the great and lasting injury of the prosperity of Dakota.

Resolved, That the united interest of Lawrence county will act in conjunction with the people of other counties of Dakota, and that we recommend committees of conference be selected for the purpose of assisting our action upon this subject.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the honorable secretary of the interior, commissioners of Indian affairs, and each member of congress.

The question was then put by the chairman "Shall the resolutions pass," and the above resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Was He Drowned or Murdered?

The legends of the old settlers tell a story of a tragedy of '72 that happened on Apple Creek, but evidence could never be adduced to prove anything. There once lived there a hardened desperado named Tom Moore. His cabin was in a lonely spot, and his family consisted of an Indian woman and some three children. Related travelers sometimes stopped for the night at Tom's cabin, and among them was a man by the name of Cook, in 1872, who disappeared from sight. He was supposed to have his possession considerable money, but no evidence of his murder could be obtained, and his body was never recovered. Saturday Robert Menider and Alexander Cameron discovered, perhaps, a slight clue to the missing man. As some of their men were getting water from the creek they saw, deep down in the clear stream, a skull, which they grappled out. Upon examination they concluded that it was the well developed head of a white man, and is, perhaps, the earthly remains of the man Cook. No other part of the skeleton could be found. Whether or no the unfortunate man was murdered by Moore, or accidentally drowned, will always be a mystery, but there is no doubt but that the mud-colored skull once appertained to the man Cook.

APPLICATION has been made to the government for the appointment of United States commissioners for the examination for acceptance of 100 miles of the main line of the North Pacific road in the Yellowstone valley. A section of 25 miles on the Pend d'Oreille division, and one of 25 miles from North Pacific Junction eastward to Superior, Wis., are also ready for inspection by the government. A further section of 25 miles in the Yellowstone valley is approaching completion.

The approximate gross earnings for the month of April are $433,000, against $216,209 for the corresponding period of 1881—an increase of $216,791. The earnings for the first week in May are $127,060, being an increase of $56,450.

Among the bills hanging fire in the house in consequence of the present deadlock, is the one recently passed by the senate, giving the North Pacific railroad company right of way through the Crow reservation. Delegate Magnus, at the proper time, will make an effort to secure the passage of the bill in the house.

PRICES OF LOTS IN THE NEW TOWN OF STEELE, County Seat Kidder County. Prices Good for a Short Time Only.

This new town was laid out in August last, and already over 400 lots have been sold. The reason of this is that Steele is the most important point between Jamestown and Bismarck, it being about half way between the two points, and the center of one of the best farming sections in North Dakota. It was at Steele that the largest yield of No. 1 hard wheat ever raised was harvested. Building contracts already let for the season of 1882 insure to the new town a boom unprecedented in the growth of any other town along the line of the North Pacific. The following prices of lots are good only for a short time.

BOOM FOR BISMARCK.

Opening of the Turtle Mountain Indian Country.

One of the most important matters of interest to Bismarck is the recent action of Secretary Teller, which settles the Turtle Mountain Indian business. The country now being open to settlement there will be a grand rush of settlers to the famous Mouse river region via Bismarck, the only practical route, as will be seen by all maps now published. The Bismarck, Mouse River, Turtle Mountain and Manitoba road will now be built in the near future and thus another empire opened as a tributary to Bismarck.

Bismarck Depot Duplicated.

The North Pacific is going to build, at Portland, Oregon, one of the largest and finest depots in the world. It is to be built of stone, granite and iron, and will cover twelve full blocks of ground. It will cost $1,500,000.

Lee's Bay Victorious.

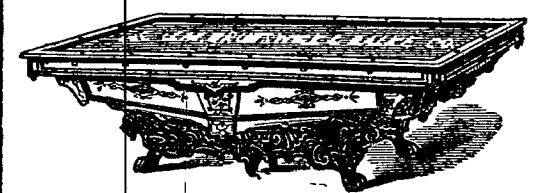

They are having some fine sport at Fort Yates, judging from the following dispatch received by Messrs. Marsh & Wakeman Saturday night:

Fort Yates, May 27.—Lee's bay horse beat the Seventh cavalry black by sixty feet, in a quarter mile heat.

DR. FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTERS

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whiskey beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They are strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For Bile, Rush of Blood in the Head, tending to Apoplexy, Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Dropsy, Pimples and Blisters, Scrofulous Humors and Sores, Tetters, Ring Worms, White Swelling, Erysipelas, Sore Throat, and for young men suffering from Weakness or Debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for Dyspepsia, Bile, Weakness and Kidney Disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine as one of the greatest blessings.

THE RIVER.

What Has Been Going on at the Levee During the Week.

(From Daily of 27th)

There was nothing of importance transpiring at the levee yesterday. The most important event was the beginning of the transfer Undine to make her regular trips across the river and back, giving the people of Bismarck and Mandan an opportunity to visit each other without taking a day for it. The people of these two towns have great respect for each other, but an all day visit is a little more than either can stand.

There has been quite a little scare here on account of reported sickness on some of Bismarck's upper Missouri river steamboats. The managers of the boats, however, needlessly may be the alarm, are now taking every possible precaution in their power. On account of hearing that there had been a case of typhoid on the steamer Gen. Meade, the superintendent of the line, Col. O'Connor, on the arrival of the boat at the Bismarck levee determined to have her thoroughly fumigated and disinfected. Accordingly this was done under the direction of Dr. Porter, the health officer of this port, and the fumigation was done most effectually.

In this connection it may be remarked that a healthier or more stalwart crew than that which came off the supposed infected boat cannot be found even on these health-giving prairies of ours.

The crew of the champion boat of the season, the steamer Far West, which leaves tonight for Benton were all vaccinated yesterday by Dr. Porter as a prevention, although there has been no sickness on their boat; still, as the agent of the line remarked, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

The Big Horn which had its smokestacks taken off by the ferry cable at Benton, is at the levee awaiting repairs. The new stacks will probably be put on to-day.

W. T. Gilham said he had no river news last evening. All he knew was that the "Germans had captured Holland."

The Key West passed Stevenson, up, at 6:30 last evening.

Inspector Mark D. Flower made quick work of the Far West. He arrived on last evening's train, pronounced the boat O. K., and will leave this morning for home.

The steamer Benton passed Poplar river at 4 p. m. yesterday. She will immediately reload for Benton and expect to get away next Wednesday.

The Dacotah passed Buford, up, at 11:15 yesterday.

The Niobrara passed Fort Yates at 12:15 yesterday and will arrive here to-day. She will probably return to Yankton again in a few days.

The steamer Far West pulls out for Fort Benton on the arrival of the North Pacific train from the east to night.

(From Daily of 28th)

The levee was fairly active yesterday, several boats being actively engaged in loading for Benton, and the Niobrara busy unloading her cargo from Sioux City.

The steamer Gen. Terry, of the Peck line, passed Glendive, up, Friday morning bound for Billings. At that point the roosters struck for more pay, and Capt. Seims promptly paid off the crew and discharged them. It seems there is no trouble in getting a crew of men in the upper country.

The Far West, which was advertised to leave for Benton yesterday, was detained until today because of delay of important freight. Among the Far West's passengers are the family of Superintendent Hobart, of the North Pacific; Mr. William and family, of Minneapolis; and Mrs. F. Day Haynes, wife of the Fargo artist, who last year, in company with a tourist, spent ten days in a flat boat on the upper Missouri taking views of the magnificent scenery in that section. The tourist wishes a highly successful pleasure trip to the north, which a good boat and gentlemanly set of officers insures.

Still the Black Hills is advertised to "leave to-morrow." She may get away to-day, but the moment is not advised.

The regular licensed pilots on the Missouri are complaining of the law being broken. A recent St. Louis paper says: "And now the regular licensed pilots of the upper Missouri are complaining that a provision of the law which enables U. S. inspectors to issue special licenses to persons who are not regular pilots is taken advantage of in a manner which endangers the lives of river passengers. The license, it is said, authorizes the holder to pilot the boat himself and no other, while the law provides it shall never apply to pilot boats or to freight boats of over 100 tons burden. It is asserted that notwithstanding this provision of law, several upriver boats are in charge of this special class of un-licensed pilots, who are endangering the lives of passengers daily. The regular pilots also complain that in some cases one man acts as captain, pilot and mate, while there is a law which prohibits any one from serving in two official capacities on a boat. They declare that these violations of law have been shown to the United States inspectors and that the latter say they can do nothing to correct the alleged abuses."

The Niobrara arrived at 12 m. yesterday from Sioux City. She returns to that point today.

The Key West passed Stevenson at 6:30 and the Boe-Bud at 7:15 p. m. Friday night.

The Big Horn leaves for Benton, Monday positively.

At Stevenson, Buford and Junction City the river was reported as stationary yesterday.

At Bismarck it was falling fast.

The Undine having resumed regular trips to Mandan, many are availing themselves of the opportunity of crossing from either side.

Capt. Smith of the steamer Gen. Meade, better known as the "Jack Rabbit" called last evening to tell the Tribune that the report recently put in circulation that there was a wreck on the boat during its recent trip to Benton between the roosters was false; that no one lost his head by a razor manipulator and that no one was hung to the limb of a lone tree by vigilants as reported. A more orderly crew, the captain says never manned a Missouri river packet.

The steamer Benton passed Tobacco Gardens, down, at 6 o'clock last evening. She will leave Bismarck for Benton again Wednesday or Thursday.

The Sioux City Journal of the 25th says: "The big Wyoming arrived from St. Louis at 3 p. m. yesterday, after a moderately quick run. At Omaha the head engineer jumped the boat, and another engineer called by telegraph passed the boat without seeing her at Council Bluffs and came on to this city. Above Omaha there was considerable trouble with bars. The Wyoming has 600 tons of freight, almost all for I. G. Baker, of Benton, and is drawing fully forty inches. After completing this trip she will probably run in the Coulson line from Bismarck, though she is not of that line of boats. Her master, C. pt. W. Coulson, expects to pull out for upriver early this morning. The Wyoming is built on the same general plan as the Montana and Dacotah, but is just a trifle larger than either. She is the largest boat ever brought into the upper Missouri. Numerous citizens went down yesterday to admire her sumptuous cabins and ample size. The Wyoming took on fifteen cabin passengers and thirty tons of freight at this city."

The following is from the Yankton Press and Dakotian of the 23d: "Capt. Grant Marsh's new boat, the W. J. Behan, reached Yankton this morning from St. Louis. She is a light craft, with a capacity of 300 tons, and was evidently built for rapid running. With the small load she took at Sioux City, she drew only seventeen inches, which is light for an empty boat. The Behan took on considerable freight here and left for the upper waters. The officers of the boat are Capt. Grant Marsh, master; Capt. J. K. Hazlett, clerk; John Marsh and Alex. Curry, pilots; Albertus Rea, mate; Adam Berman and John D. gman, engineers."

The ferry boat Livingston was sunk at Running Water on the 23d, near the bank, in several feet of water. Cause unknown.

(From Daily of 30th)

As usual, the river was falling yesterday; The Big Muddy is always doing what she hadn't ought. She is either up so high that towns on the river bottom are flooded, or else she is so low that boats drawing over three feet need wheels. A passenger on the Benton down says that although the river is very low now, he is confident there will be a good stage of water from the 10th of next month on. He says it has been cold weather at Benton all this spring, and the only rise in the river has been caused by rains. In the mountains it has snowed, and the snow has not yet melted. It will begin to thaw next month, when, no doubt, the stage of water will be good.

The Far West, which left Sunday night, arrived at Stevenson yesterday morning.

The Key West passed Tobacco Gardens at 7:45 Sunday evening.

The Dacotah was at Poplar River at 12:30 Sunday, bound up.

The Helena passed Buford at 11:30, Sunday, bound for Benton.

The Red Cloud passed Poplar on the 26th, in the afternoon, bound up.

The Black Hills left Sunday morning, and passed Stevenson at 5 a. m. yesterday.

The Benton reports very low water at the Niche.

The Benton will probably get away Thursday for Benton.

The Big Horn left for Benton at 6 o'clock last evening, with 260 tons of freight and twenty-one passengers.

The steamer Benton, of the Benton line, arrived from Benton at 4:30 last evening. She had on 160 head of cattle.

The Niobrara departed for Yankton at 3 o'clock yesterday. Among her freight was 115 tons of Bismarck brick for the new hospital at Fort Yates.

The Benton met the Rosebud at the mouth of the Little Missouri. She was stuck on a bar, and the Benton pulled her off. The Butte was tied up at the bank near that point waiting for a rise at Buffalo shoals. The Dacotah was getting along all right, and it was the opinion of a passenger that the Far West would overhaul the whole fleet, as she was drawing but three feet.

The Miles City Journal of the 27th says: "Monday last the steamer Batchelor had not passed Guy's Bluffs, and the prospect of her reaching her journey's end was not very flattering. The load she carries is not well adapted for the present stage of water. If the present warm weather keeps up there will be plenty of water in the channel, as the mountains are covered with snow."

The permanent steamboat landing, just below the high bridge, will be the finest on the Missouri river. As soon as the bridge is completed, the bank will be cleared of timber, stone, etc., and next year the railroad and government will erect warehouses of a permanent nature.

The channel of the Yellowstone is reported as five feet and six inches at Junction City, and river rising. It rose one foot and six inches since the 27th. River falls at both Buford and Stevenson.

The Josephine has turned the stake the second time and arrived at Benton at 2 p. m. yesterday.

The Gen. Sherman left the Coal Banks for Bismarck on the 27th.

Capt. Wolcott received a despatch from Edwards, superintendent of construction, North Pacific, yesterday, stating that the Batchelor was laid up at Junction City and the Transfer No. 2 was at the Rosebud. Water very low.

(From Daily of 31st)

Yesterday was the highest day of the season as far as the river was concerned. The only boat exhibiting signs of life was the Benton, which is announced to get away Thursday. A year ago at this time the scene was much different. The season was a month behind what it is now, and the government had five times the amount of freight at the levee awaiting shipment. Government supplies are slow in getting to the front this season.

Col. O'Connor, of the Peck line, left for St. Paul yesterday morning. He will be absent only a few days.

The Gen. Sherman passed Poplar river, down, yesterday, and will be here Thursday.

The Rosebud passed Tobacco Garden yesterday at 12:45.

The Helena passed Poplar River, up, at daylight yesterday.

The Josephine leaves Benton for Bismarck today.

The Wyoming, one of the largest boats on the river, left Sioux City on the 27th for Benton.

(From Daily of 1st.)

Business at the levee was not "rushin" yesterday, the only boat taking on a cargo being the Benton, which was expected to be entirely loaded and ready to light out for Fort Benton to-day.

The Josephine arrived at the Coal Banks yesterday at 1:15, and passed down at 1:40.

The Black Hills passed the Tobacco Gardens, up, at 1:15 yesterday.

The Rosebud passed Buford, up, at 9:30 yesterday morning.

The N. P. Transfer will be busy to-day on work connected with the bridge.

Speaking of the loss of the Big Horn's smoke stacks the Benton Record of the 19th says:

"This morning the Big Horn was backing down stream, swinging well out into the river to get room to turn around and leave for Bismarck. When the boat passed under the ferry cable at the foot of Baker street the smoke stacks were caught by the wire. A tremendous strain was put upon the cable for a few seconds and then, it proving the stronger, down came the smoke stacks on the deck with a great crash. The boat was tied up again for repairs, but there being no facilities in town, the Big Horn minus her big horns went down the river. Very little damage was done the boat by the fall of the smoke stacks."

The Gen. Sherman passed Buford down yesterday at 5:30.

The Big Horn, up, passed Stevenson at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday night.

The Sherman passed Buford, down, at 5:40 a. m., yesterday.

(From Daily of 2d)

The Benton finished loading yesterday, and is now on her way to Benton. There will be a slack in the steamboat business now for a few days until some more boats arrive from above. The N. P. Transfer put in some time yesterday on the bridge, and will probably do a little work in that vicinity today. It will only be a short time now before the spans of the bridge begin to materialize.

The Far West passed Buford, up, at 8 a. m. yesterday.

The Big Horn passed Tobacco Gardens, up, at 8 p. m. yesterday.

The Gen. Sherman passed Stevenson, down, at 10:20 a. m. yesterday, and arrived at Bismarck last evening.

The Key West passed Poplar River, up, at 7 p. m. yesterday.

The Helena passed the Porcupine, up, at 5:30 a. m. yesterday.

SHE WANTS A MAN

And is Willing to Perform well Her Part as a Wife.

The TRIBUNE has received the following which is probably the highest compliment ever paid to the old timers of the frontier. The young lady in question declares that she is willing to perform her part if some noble western heart can be induced to blend its throbbings with hers:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—Dear Sir: I am here east, but if ever a feminine piece of humanity longed to get west, to live west, die west, I do. I read of the great, grand west where there is room to breathe; where noble hearts beat to nature's harmonious pulsations. I can not, seeing I am a piece of humanity called a girl, pick myself up and go out west and settle, and I have not a purse that will bear me out. Now will you, Mr. Editor-in-chief, insert the following card that I may perchance, meet with the one who will feel that I am the one he has been looking for, his other self. Please do this for me. If successful, gratitude and cash will be your reward; if not successful gratitude alone will be all I can give. Everybody says western men are brave, grand and noble—the best type of men. I will be able to do well my part as a western man's wife. Asking pardon for this intrusion, I am very truly yours, Miss L. Brown.

WANTED—A grand, brave western man to cast about in his mind, heart and pocket and see if I am not the piece of humanity he wants for his wife. I want to live and breathe the free atmosphere of the broad west. I am willing to act well my part. I don't object to a widow; none under 40 years need apply. I am ready to go without delay. Address for one month, Miss L. Brown, Washington City, D. C.

Northwestern News Notes.

The Butte Inter-Mountain of May 25th says the entire Hellgate valley, in Missoula county, is fenced in and under cultivation.

Blasting on the North Pacific at Ockley is dangerous to the inhabitants. The discharge of a blast there the other day so startled one of the residents that, very fortunately for himself, he jumped up from his chair, and a moment later a 100 pound boulder crashed through the roof and knocked the chair into smithereens.

There are now 5 000 men at the front on the Pen d'Oreille division of the North Pacific road. Six hundred men were sent up last week, and as many more will be sent up during the present week.

The Black Hills Pioneer does Miles City an injustice by stating that there is small-pox there.

The Jamestown Alert is reliably informed that the street railway scheme at Billings is now an assured fact, and will be put in operation as soon as the necessary work can be done. The capital stock is fixed at $16,000, of which $12,000 has already been taken by citizens of Billings. Our enterprising real estate agents, Van Cleve & Wadsworth, are so fortunate as to have 1,500 lots through which this street railway will pass on the way out to Coulson, or old Billings. Another item of prodigious enterprise in this new town is a $60,000 hotel, which will be erected at once opposite the depot. Billings is reported to have a population of 1,500, and is backed up by more capital, except, perhaps, Fargo, than any other town west of Minneapolis.

The Winnipeg Plan.

The Guelph Herald prints the following, upon which comment is unnecessary:

Angus Macdonald was a farmer from Charlottetown, county Glengarry, who arrived in Winnipeg a few days ago. Angus, in his own estimation and in the estimation of his friends, was a shrewd man. He was hardly in the place before an old acquaintance of his ran up against him, slapped him on the back in a friendly way, and said:

"I'm glad you've come up. I was just going to send for you." After these greetings he continued: "By the way, Angus, you own a farm near Minnedosa?"

"Yes."

"How much will you take for it?"

"I don't know," said Angus. "I thought of setting on it myself."

"Well, I'll tell you what, I'll give you $6,000 for it."

Angus thought before leaving Glengarry that if he got $2,000 for it he would be doing well, but he was now in the land of booms, and so he asked for it $6,500.

"Well, here's $50 on the bargain, and we'll sign the papers to-morrow." And the purchaser rushed off.

Before two hours had passed Angus ran against another old acquaintance.

"Glad to see you, Angus; glad you came up. There's a splendid chance for you. By the way, I see you registered as owning a farm near Minnedosa. How much do you want for that farm?"

"I've just sold it," said Angus.

"How much did he give you?"

"Six thousand five hundred dollars."

"The dickens he did. Why, I'll give you $15,000 for it. You go to the purchaser and get him to release you, and I'll give you the $15,000."

Angus wished he was back in St. Raphaels or anywhere else, since he had made such a fool of himself. However, all he could do was to try and get the farm back. So who does he run across in fifteen minutes but purchaser No. 1.

Says Angus: "I'm sorry I sold you my farm. I'd like to get it back. Here's your $50, and we'll be where we were."

"Oh, I can't do that. I bought a farm, and will have the papers ready to-morrow."

After further higgling, Angus offered him $500 to break the bargain.

With great reluctance the first purchaser took the $500—one hundred new $5 bills on the bank of Montreal—and gave back to Angus the temporary agreement of sale.

Angus was happy again, and set out to find buyer No. 2.

He found him not. No. 1 and No. 2 were pal confidence men. Angus was the sucker from Ontario, and $450 was the net amount that they stung him for.

Little Sioux, a noted Hawkeye racer, was sold at Council Bluffs yesterday for $4,500.

CONGRESSMAN SPRINGER, of Illinois, says: "We do not propose to admit Dakota before the next presidential election, as we do not want to repeat our experience with reference to the admission of Colorado." If this is the issue between the democrats and republicans, then the state of affairs is indeed deplorable.

It will cost the United States a good share of the six million dollar residue of the Geneva award to get rid of it. The diplomacy used to secure the original fifteen millions is a mere bagatelle compared with the lobbying that has been done in connection with its distribution.

SECRETARY FOLGER is reported to be very desirous of New York gubernatorial honors. A prominent New York stalwart, who stands near to ex-Senator Conkling, thinks Judge Folger will become governor of New York, and that his successor in the treasury department will be Representative Crowley, of New York. This is a long look ahead.

BEAR will be hung June 20. Just before receiving his sentence, Brave Bear arose and said: "I have taken the white man's part always, and when the Indians knew no years I have tried to teach them. But I am disappointed at the treatment of the white men. They can do as they please with me and cut me to pieces if they choose."

A SCHEME is now on foot to generate electricity, at Niagara Falls, by the use of dynamo-electric machines, and furnish the manufacturing of the United States with power. It is claimed that on a common one-half inch copper wire, 21,000-horse power can be obtained 300 miles from the Falls. Electricity promises to revolutionize the manufacturing interests of the world.

On Saturday beef cattle sold in Chicago on the hoof for $12.50 per hundred weight—the highest price ever paid in the city. Porterhouse steaks were 30 cents a pound at the markets, sirloins 25 cents, and round steaks 16 cents. The worst features of the emergency are that farmers are sending their dairy cattle to the markets, which means future high prices for butter and cheese.

Nor long since Mr. George C. Miln, a talented young Chicago preacher, made a sensation by resigning the pastorate of Unity church, of that city, and renouncing the Unitarian belief. Now comes the startling announcement that he proposes to enter the dramatic profession. He takes this step as the result of consultation with Edwin Booth and other dramatic gentlemen, and states that he will make his debut in a Chicago theatre next October.

DAKOTA's credit is excellent and her bonds are in demand. Bids were opened at Yankton last week for $36,000 of territorial penitentiary bonds, and the whole lot was taken by C. E. Judd, of Canton, Dakota, whose bid was three per cent. premium. The other bids were: S. B. Coulson, $10,000 at 2½ per cent; First National bank, Yankton, 2½ per cent; Kearsarge National bank, Warner, N. H., at 2½ per cent. The bonds bear six per cent. interest, and $14,000 worth were sold last fall at a fraction above three per cent. premium.

The Pennsylvania Pot.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Senator Cameron held a conference to-day with a number of well known business men, representing the commercial, financial and manufacturing interests of the city and state, with reference to supporting a straight ticket. It has been decided that the regular republican convention shall be reconvened within the next fifteen days and be composed of the same delegates who formed the first convention, and the vacancy occasioned by the declination of Marshall shall then be filled. Among those present at the conference were Charles Cramp, Joseph Patterson, President Cummings, of the Girard bank, Henry M. Phillips, State Senator A. Wilson Norris, Hamilton Disston, James Dobson, E. C. Knight, and Col. A. Loudon Snowden. Chairman Cooper called during the morning, and also Wm. Henry Rowle. Senator Cameron said the success of the ticket rested with the great agricultural, mining and commercial interests of the state. He had fought for a protective tariff in the senate as his brother had done in other days, but if those who had heretofore supported the republican ticket wanted to stab him he was ready to receive the blow, and he would oppose a tariff in the senate as heartily as he had upheld it. "If you want to kill the party we will all go to destruction together," was the significant warning of the senator. He assured his visitors that he was working simply for the good of his party; that he had nothing more to seek for himself than he had already realized, and heretofore he had no other desire than to serve the best interest of his state and country.

Northwestern Grain Fields.

LA CROSSE, Wis., May 27.—A special telegram to the Republican Leader from forty principal points ranging through the great grain-producing belt from the Mississippi river at this point through Minnesota to the great grain field of Dakota, are to the effect that the acreage of wheat is 30 per cent less than in 1881. The plant is healthy, and although somewhat backward gives promise of a good yield. Farmers are doing much seeding, preparatory to stock-raising, principally in hogs. Late frosts have done no damage to wheat, and bugs are reported at only one point. Corn acreage is increased. The crop is very backward. At many points planting is not finished, frost cutting off whole fields of growing plants. With favorable weather the corn yield in Minnesota will be the largest in the history of the state. St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—The weather is clear and cool through the state. Wheat seeding is completed except in the extreme northern part of the Red river valley, and newly sown grain looks well. Corn planting delayed by the late rains, is now going on rapidly.

Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—It is understood that several persons were agreed upon as members of the tariff commission at a meeting of the cabinet to-day, and their names will be sent to the senate early next week, the remaining members not to be selected until after the president's return from Newport.

The president gave an informal lunch to members of the cabinet to-day, and left for New York. Attorney General Brewster accompanied him. Secretaries Folger and Lincoln join him in New York Monday. The party will review the parade, decoration day, but will not attend the memorial exercises in the evening.

The committee on rules held a secret session this forenoon, considering the dead lock. Members of both parties took an active part in the discussion.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Acting Postmaster General Hutton issued an order to-day addressed all postmasters directing a general observance of decoration day by closing all postoffices except in the large cities between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. Ten large cities postmasters may use their own judgment in fixing their hours.

POLITICAL ASSESSMENT.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Circulars from the national republican campaign committee were received by employees at the capitol to-day in which each employee is informed that he would be expected to contribute two per cent. of his annual salary towards the campaign fund to be used next fall.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Confirmations: Leonard C. Bacon, consul at Samoa; Clark Reede, collector of customs district of Sandusky, Ohio. Postmasters: F. C. Masbough, Cambridge City, Ind.; Stephen Metcalf, Anderson, Ind.; Fred Rosecrans, Tecumseh, Mich.; Elizabeth A. Stevenson, Greenville, Ohio.

THE STAR ROUTE CONSPIRATORS.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—In the star route trial to-day Merrick asked that the defendants be called up to plead. The court ordered them to stand up in a body, and a plea of "not guilty" was entered by all the defendants. Wilson renewed his request that the prosecution inform them under which indictment they were to be proceeded against. Merrick declined to do this and Wilson appealed to the court to order a nolle prosequi of the first indictment because by their own statement it appeared they were alike. The prosecution objected to this, saying there might be further obstructions placed in the way of the trial, and the court would see that the defendants were not twice tried for the same offence. The court said the defendants when in no jeopardy from the first indictment if they proceeded with this. After the trial had begun surties under the first indictment might be relieved. In answer to a reference by Wilson while filing another motion in Reidell's behalf, to the latter's alleged confession, the court said the confession of one conspirator could not be held as evidence against another. If he made any statement during the progress of the conspiracy that would however be good evidence. It was likely that this trial would be long, tedious and expensive. Judge Wylie thought it would require close watch to prevent the admission of unnecessary evidence. There were other jail cases which should be tried before this and he would therefore take up this trial Thursday next. Court adjourned.

The Cleveland Strikers.

CLEVELAND, May 26.—Two thousand workmen held an open air mass meeting in the Sixteenth ward this afternoon. This number included 1,200 formerly employees of the Cleveland rolling mills company, who formed in a procession in the Eighteenth ward, and with music and flags marched to the rendezvous. Speeches were made by W. C. Fallman, of the cigar makers' union and trades assembly, in German and English; Charles Keysella, of the cigar makers' union, in Bohemian; and Mr. Bankowitz, of the amalgamated association, in Polish. The speakers encouraged the rolling mills company men to remain out to protect the interests of their fellow workmen, and assured them of assistance, both moral and material.

Also a free pardon to any one not an actual murderer, giving information.

It Looks Dark for the Khedive.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 27.—This afternoon the Khedive summoned the dignitaries, the deputies and other Arabic notables, also the principal officers of the army and addressed them in energetic terms on the subject of the existing political situation. He explained the object of the English and French naval expedition and announced that he had assumed supreme command of the army and resolved to maintain strict discipline. The officers present replied in insolent language and declared they would never accept the ultimatum offered by England and France, nor recognize the right of interference by any power except Turkey. They then abruptly left the Khedive's presence. The Khedive has since received a telegram from the military commander at Alexandria, in which they declare they will not recognize anybody but Arabi Bey, and demand his reinstatement within twelve hours. After the expiration of that term they will not, they say, be responsible for the maintenance of order.

President Villard Explains.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Henry Villard, president of the North Pacific railway company, was tendered a reception at the Union League house this evening by B. C. Wright, former president of that corporation. President Villard made an address in which he set forth the plans and purposes of the Oregon Transcontinental company. The organization is intended mainly to build tributary local lines through the territories traversed by the North Pacific. Their purposes, Villard said, were to be explained in full in a circular to be issued to stockholders early next week.

Cattle Thieves Exterminated.

Killed By a Falling Building.

LANCASTER, Pa., May 27. While workmen were engaged in erecting a church in Rahso township to-day the building gave way and fell upon a number of men. Jacob Gillett and John Shink will surely die, and twelve others are seriously injured.

Brave Bear Resentenced.

YANKTON, May 27.—Maloohilike, otherwise known as "Brave Bear," a Sioux Indian who would have been executed on the 9th of March for the murder of a soldier named Johnson near Fort Sully, but for an appeal to the supreme court and a motion for a new trial, was to-day re-sentenced to be hung on the 20th of July, the supreme court having denied a new trial. He fully deserves the sentence, and is clearly guilty, not only of this murder, but of others, including an entire white family near Pembina. On being asked if he had anything to say before being sentenced, he replied: "I have taken a white man's part always. I am disappointed at the treatment of the white men. They can do as they please with me, and cut me to pieces if they choose."

England and Egypt.

LONDON, May 29.—The News says it is the first duty of the government to protect the lives of Englishmen residing in Egypt. It declares that the ironclads at Alexandria are equal to the task, although the English admiral is unable to land men. When this pecuniary obligation is discharged, then the real difficulties of the situation will only begin. The duplicity of the porte is now tolerably certain. It will be impossible for Gladstone to assist in making Turkish rule a reality in Egypt. The Standard says that if Turkish intervention is possible, then France and England must take the matter into their own hands immediately. The Daily Telegraph declares that the policy of deference to France has been carried out beyond the limits of prudence.

The Love Feast.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Some weeks ago the Western Union telegraph promulgated a new and somewhat increased schedule of rates of reports transmitted to New York associated press. The associated press was not satisfied with these rates and transferred some of its reports to a competing telegraph company, whereupon the Western Union telegraph company notified the associated press that it must pay full commercial rates. After some conference between the parties the associated press agreed to pay the schedule rates first given and their reports will be transmitted at those instead of full commercial rates hereafter.

Shielding their Crime.

DUBUQUE, Ia., May 29.—As the passenger train from Chicago on the Milwaukee & St. Paul road this morning was nearing Massey station, six miles south of here, it ran over a man lying on the track and horribly mangled his body. When approaching him the engineer and fireman saw two men run away and the theory is that they killed him and laid the body on the track. The sheriff went to the place and arrested several men found in the bushes in the vicinity.

He Kept His Word.

ATCHISON, Kansas, May 29.—On the evening of the 17th inst., Hiram Sweet, a jeweler of this city, disappeared leaving a note saying that when it was received he would be under the water. It was not believed, however, that he had drowned himself, and since that time several reports have been circulated that he had been seen at St. Joseph and other places. This evening a bloated body was found in the river and fully identified as that of Sweet. He leaves a wife.

Arkansas Crops.

LITTLE ROCK, May 26.—Late crop reports from over the state indicate an improved condition. Most of the complaints were caused by late frosts, which compelled the re-planting of considerable cotton, and cold nights which damaged corn. No damage done anywhere to fruit, and wheat is turning out well. The last few days the weather has been bright and nights warm, and a great effect is already being seen on cotton, which is now growing rapidly wherever left and undamaged by frosts.

Heavy Fire at Leadville.

DENVER, Col., May 26.—A Leadville special says that early this morning the Grant company's smelting works were completely destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been an explosion in a furnace. The loss is estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000; insurance $65,000. These works were the largest of the kind in the world. Over three hundred men are thrown out of employment. The works will be rebuilt.

Gold Hunting in the Yukon Valley.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The Bulletin this evening will say that Edward Scheflin, the well known Arizona prospector and frontiersman, has organized a party of five experienced men, himself included, to make a thorough prospecting tour of the valley of the Yukon river, Alaska. The party have ample means, and a small light draft stern wheel steamer has been built for them.

Dastardly Act.

Won't Have It.

CAIRO, May 26.—An ultimatum of the English and French governments further proscribes the entering into Egypt of Abdallah Pasha and Ali Fahry Pasha, who, next to Arabi Bey, are leaders of the military party. Diplomats consider it almost certain that the ministry and the military party will reject the ultimatum.

He died in a few moments from loss of blood.

MONTANA like the south is cursed with chicken stealing. One named Lebow, according to the Helena Herald was arrested last week, but at the jail door managed to get away from the officer. The minion of the law and order cried "halt!" but the man heeded not. The officer fired and the ball struck the victim in the small of the back, inflicting probably a fatal wound.

The outlook for the opening of the Turtle Mountain country for settlement this summer is first-rate. In the matter of the Indian title to the lands in question Secretary Teller is inclined to rule against the Indians, and if he does not it is probable that the title will be settled by an act of congress, and the thousands of rich acres now lying waste, be thrown open to white settlers.

SENATOR CAMERON says there will be no fusion or compromise with the independents of that state, but on the contrary the regular republicans will exert all their strength against the ticket nominated Wednesday last. The senator is in doubt as to whether the vacancy caused by Marshall's refusal to run for congressman-at-large will be filled by the state committee or by another convention.

The following are the gentlemen thus far agreed upon by the cabinet as members of the new tariff commission: John L. Hayes, Mass.; Henry A. Oliver, Penna.; A. M. Garland, Ill.; Robt. P. Porter, D. C.; Alexander Mitchell, Wis.; John S. Phelps, Mo., and Jas. Chestnut, Jr., S. C. It is thought the list will be completed by the selection of Wm. A. Holter, of New York, who will be chairman, and J. A. Ambler, of Ohio.

ALTHOUGH the people of Grand Forks do not bank much on their own education, they intend that their children shall receive all the benefits possible. The report of the building committee entrusted with the erection of the new brick school building reads as follows: "Excavation not completed; earth not rammed down about the walls; brick bands and arches of the wrong color; skylight frame of wood instead of iron; conducting pipes improperly connected; shingles at certain places on the roof where there should have been tin; flooring not first quality; transoms immovable; sash fasteners and lifts lacking; lights of glass broken; base boards lacking in some rooms; base board knobs, to prevent jamming by doors, absent; outside doors not as specified and of much cheaper quality; basement stairs lacking; plastering defective; exterior walls not well painted; door frames and jams not plumb; roof supports unsafe and not as required by the specifications; shingling very poor."

The habit of opium smoking has gained a wonderful hold on the people of the Black Hills. The cause of many of the downcast and dejected countenances in that section as well as much of the crime committed can be traced directly to this vicious habit. The practice has assumed such a noxious form that the city council of Deadwood have taken hold of the matter and are legislating against the use of the article. The Pioneer of the 19th says: "The city council passed a stringent ordinance against opium smoking, or rather selling opium for the purpose of smoking, and keeping houses where opium is smoked, which amounted to just about what all such laws and ordinances usually do. It has not decreased the smoking of opium in the slightest degree; if anything the pernicious habit to which many are slaves is increasing, and where a dozen 'hit the pipe a lick' a year ago, scores are doing the same thing now. True, they do not frequent the opium dens as they did a few months ago, but there are dozens of men and women in the city who have their pipes and pots of opium, and they congregate in some room and there indulge in the passion with none to molest them."

ACCORDING to the Record, Benton was recently visited by a terrific wind storm. Fences were blown down, houses unroofed, signs blown in every direction and a demoralization generally. Herschberg & Nathan's show windows were forced in and the walls of the new brick hotel were cracked somewhat. The uncompleted wing of the Building Association's new house was partially upset and a severe strain was put upon the most substantial buildings, many of them being perceptibly shaken by the force of the wind. Many buildings that were roofed with iron had it stripped off, and at one time it was dangerous to be on the streets, the fragments of roofing flying through the air. Water was blown from the river against the windows on the north side of Front street, and the gravel stones rattled against the windows breaking many of them. Some heavy freight wagons on the levee, at the lower end of the town, were overturned, and nearly every Front street saloon-keeper gave up the attempt to keep his lamps lighted. A man on Main street heard a whistling noise and ducked his head just in time to save it from being amputated by a flying plate of roofing from Baker & Co.'s warehouse. It was coming edge on and was looking for gore.

MAIDENVILLE.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS FROM A RELIABLE CORRESPONDENT.

Two Men Clean up $92 in Two Days;
Eight Clean up $500 in Seven Days—The Boom in Different Camps.

Last Chance Gulch.

MAIDENVILLE, M. T., May 21.—[Special.] W. B. Shanks returned from his claim, which is located on Last Chance gulch, last evening, with a "buckskin bag of gold" which he poured out for us to examine, and there were some twelve nuggets ranging from $1 up to $6, and a host of smaller ones, besides dust to the amount of $92 which had been taken out of his claim by two men in two days. There are plenty of other claims there which are as good as his, so he informs us, and there has been some $11,000 taken out of this gulch already this spring. The gulch is about twelve miles west of Maidenville in the Macenas mountains. There is plenty more ground for prospectors here.

THE COLLAR MINE.

There has been big excitement here for the last two or three days over the report that the Collar mine had been placed on the stock board for $600,000, but F. T. McParlin, one of the owners, informed us this morning that it was all talk, and that they had simply met to determine how they should proceed with the work, but had not come to any definite conclusion and that they would have to meet again before any steps could be taken.

THE BOSS

Your correspondent while looking over the hills came across some very good looking "float" and thinks as soon as he has time he will be able to trace it to a lead, which will make him happy also.

THE BOOM.

Yes, they are coming every day, from every direction, from every shade, from every shape, both rich and poor. Yes, the poor man, who has not a "pic," comes; and I would like to say right here to all those who have only money enough to get here with, that they had better stay where they are, at least for a few months, and read the Tribune and as soon as it would be policy for them to come. I will let them know in that paper. But the men who have the money to invest in mines or town lots or farms, you can't get here too quick; come one come all. Here is the best chance to make a fortune you will ever see; large fortunes can be made from small capital.

A "BLIZZARD."

We had a regular January blizzard here on the 18th, but it has all gone and we have nice weather again. Such a storm has never been before, so say the oldest settlers, but it does not seem to discourage them in the least.

JOE PECK'S CLAIM

As we were busy writing one of Joe Peck's men came in and said that they had just "cleaned up" and they found $550 as the result. There were some eight men working on this claim for about seven days. This claim is on Maiden gulch and cost Joe $1,000 when he bought it. There are similar reports coming in every day now. S. G. Eight prisoners escaped from the Tuscaloosa (Ala.) jail, Saturday, and took refuge in the swamps, where they are being hunted with blood hounds.

At the Petersburg, Va., municipal election, yesterday, T. J. Jarrett, readjuster, was elected mayor. Two colored men were elected justices of the peace.

A committee of the Union club, of New York city, reports in favor of expelling J. F. Loubal and censuring Henry Turnbull, principals in a recent scandal.

Geo. O. Larkin was found guilty of manslaughter at Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. His counsel moved for a new trial.

A verdict of $20,000, with interest, has been returned in favor of the United States in the case of the United States vs. the Pacific express company at Topeka, Kansas.

Yesterday a ranchman named John A. Smythe, living at Milford, Utah, becoming violently insane, shot and killed his wife, and then fired six navy bullets into his liver.

At Kansas City, Gus Miller and Matthew Jones are under arrest, charged with inciting a mob in April last, which hung a colored man. Their conviction seems probable.

The North Pacific's wharf frontage at Tacoma, on Puget Sound, is now 850 feet; enough to accommodate all the ships and steamers chartered or regularly running to that seaport.

Several carpenters at work yesterday in a steamship Co.'s coal yard, Chicago, were killed by the fall of a shed, twenty feet to the ground. T. Anderson, aged 40, was killed instantly.

The fastest time ever made by any Mississippi river steamer was made yesterday after-

Kate Chase Sprague has been granted a divorce from her husband, with the custody of her three children, permission to resume her maiden name, and leave hereafter to apply for alimony if she chooses.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is now printed on a new Hoe press which delivers complete papers of either ten or twelve folios at the rate of 24,000 copies per hour, and the machine isn't in perfect working order yet, either.

An exciting sculling match occurred on Creve Cour lake, near St. Louis, yesterday afternoon, between Harry Parker and G. W. Colvin, of Beardstown, Ill. The contest was for $500, which was taken by Parker, who won by two lengths.

Miles City Notes.

The Yellowstone Journal of the 27th has the following items of interest:

The rush of tenderfeet to the Yellowstone Valley continues with unabated vigor.

The Inter-Ocean, the fine new hotel near the depot, is growing in popular favor daily.

The Tongue river is still rising, the water being as high as the banks, in some portions, can conveniently hold.

Jos. Leighton has purchased Dan McMillan's fast black horse, for which he paid $525.

The North Pacific track, it is confidently stated, will be laid into Billings before the fourth of August, which will be over a year from the time they reached Glendive.

A gentleman from the Clark's Fork mining country states that it snows there every day yet, and that in the gulches the snow averages from twelve to twenty feet in depth. The miners are unable to do any work and that their grub is getting low and their spirits still lower, but they hang on to their claims like a crab to a small boy's toe, and grimly smile as they think of the glittering dust they will gather when the warm weather at last dispels the almost everlasting snows. Two months is all the time that can be relied upon with any degree of certainty for steady working of the claims, but in these two months those rugged miners look forward to accumulating riches untold. At Maginnis work goes on steadily, mines are being developed, the country is swarming with the prospector, and the click of his little hammer, as he chips off the gold quartz, makes music in the air. These two districts, the Clark's Fork and Warm Spring, are going to take precedence over the mines of Montana this year at any rate.

The Building Boom.

By actual count there are sixty odd buildings now in process of erection in Bismarck, while over three hundred were erected during last summer and winter. It is only necessary to get out on the hills and look down on the city to see that its growth is very healthy indeed. Only a few brick blocks are needed on Main street to give capital confidence in the future of this city. The greatest drawback is a lack of confidence on the part of the people themselves. A leading wholesale merchant of St. Paul advised a man, after canvassing the merits of Fargo, Jamestown and other points recently, to invest in Bismarck if he wished to be certain of great returns on money invested.

A New North Dakota Town.

Several Bismarckers are about taking an interest in a new town in the Painted Woods region. They see no reason why flourishing villages should not be built along the Missouri river, in north as well as in south Dakota. Surveys are being rapidly extended in that region, and extensive settlements are being made. The lands are excellent; timber is plenty, and coal abounds in unlimited quantities.

GEN. CURTIS, special treasury agent, has been convicted, in New York city, of receiving while in the employ of the United States, "money or other things of value for political purposes." A motion was made in arrest of judgment.

B. T. Wilcox, the North Pacific land agent, arrived Monday evening from Fargo with his family. Mr. Wilcox comes to Bismarck to stay. He will be provided with teams to show settlers around the country, and will have the plate of a large area of railroad and government lands tributary to Bismarck. Through the efforts of Mr. Wilcox hundreds of settlers have been located in the Red river valley, and now that he has set his stakes at Bismarck, a like happy state of affairs may be expected on the Missouri slope. His office will be with McKenzie & Holmes.

R. H. Thompson, brother of Col. John John Thompson and Leslie Thompson, is in the city en route for Fort Yates. Mr. Thompson is making his first visit to this region and it is to be hoped that like his brother he will become sufficiently interested to invest. The country welcomes those like him. Mr. Thompson used to be a book-keeper in Gen. Grant's Galena cotton house and tells many pleasant anecdotes of the early life, and business struggles and disappointments of the famous general.

Mr. F. H. Stevens, of the Benton River Press, the handsome paper, typographically, and one of the ablest editorially, in Montana, arrived on the Benton, bound for Chicago. Material is now on the way for the Daily Press, to appear as soon as possible.

THE CITY.

Buffalo meat and choice tongues are in the market.

The plans for the new three-story brick have been received.

The grocery business of Bismarck is more than double that of 1880.

Gentle showers are so frequent that the streets do not get dusty.

The necessary blanks have been received for a new postoffice at Villard.

Edmund Hackett leaves Sunday for Villard and the Mouse river country.

It is not improbable that the First National Bank will build of brick this year.

Tom Fortune now drives a fast horse. This fast horse mania is spreading. It is contagious.

Thirty Jews, from Russia, arrived last evening and are stopping at the International.

Over 43,000,000 pounds of freight was shipped on the Missouri river from Bismarck last year.

Gannon's new store building corner of Third and Meigs streets is nearly ready for the painters.

L. R. Smith, of Boone, Iowa, gobbled a Steele lot yesterday, and will erect a building this season.

Major Kirk yesterday purchased the Justus Bragg mare, which, by the way, is the best lady's horse in the city.

Property in the new railroad addition has more than doubled in value since February, and in the Sturgis addition likewise.

Two bands and two shows the year through, 365 nights in the year, is something that Bismarck has and which few towns can boast of.

Manager Whitney, having finished the renovating the inside of his opera house, yesterday applied the aesthetic colors, red, white and blue to the exterior of his building.

North Pacific Land Agent Wilcox has fourteen parties to whom he will exhibit lands in the vicinity of Bismarck to-day. A carload of immigrants arrived last evening.

The monthly literary exercises of the pupils of the public schools will be held at the brick school-house on this (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. Friends of the pupils and of the schools, are invited.

Jack Waldron says the report in yesterday's Tribune of the finding of the skull of the once earthly Cook is a mistake. He says he helped bury the murdered Cook, and that he was planted far from Apple Creek.

Williamsville is the name now applied to a portion of Third street. Charley Williams has built or bought and improved six dwelling houses on that street, all neat, and all bringing a handsome return in the way of rents.

W. B. Shaw, who rents a Bismarck "shack" worth about $250 for $12,000 per annum, is in the city. He knows how well a ten thousand dollar brick would look on that corner and how well it would pay, but he doesn't talk build.

There were 136 money orders issued at the Bismarck post office last week aggregating $2,176. Thirty orders were paid amounting to $1,000.18 and $1,609 was deposited with the postmaster at St. Paul, and it was not a very booming week either.

Judge Barnes, who has been attending court at Bismarck, leaves for Fargo this morning. The judge was in one of the most important cases on the docket, and wins for a worthy family valuable property—the case of Wm. M. Pye vs. the city of Bismarck.

The Bismarck ticket office is a fair barometer of the business of the North Pacific at this point. Yesterday the ticket sales amounted to $1,100, the largest day's record in the history of the office. Bismarck is now the most important station on the line of the road.

Oscar Ball who has located at Sixteenth siding, now known as Sterling, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Ball is from Fremont, Ohio, and although he comes from one of the best spots on God's green earth, is well satisfied with the outlook here. He has located on government land.

Hugh McDonald is erecting an elegant little dwelling to receive his family expected in a few weeks at most. Hugh deserves all of the luxuries and comforts of a home presided over by wife and mother. They bring a charm that enables one to overcome difficulties that would otherwise be insurmountable—to resist temptations that would otherwise destroy.

Miss Emma Lulu, one of the bright stars of the Howard Athenaeum, has been tendered by the management a grand benefit Saturday evening next. Her friends will, if they are true, see that she has a full house. Among the volunteers who will assist in the entertainment is Mr. Fred Walker, the cornetist, who will play on this occasion some of his choicest solo selections. Mr. Walker is by all odds the finest cornet player ever in Dakota.

If there is anything that will make a man wake up to a realization of his own ability, it is the arrival of the first child. In most cases this event causes a generous feeling in the heart, and sometimes a man is tempted to take a box of Henry Clays to the nearest print shop, so that nothing will be said of the event in the morning press. This sort of feeling was characteristic of Mr. W. H. Finney, yesterday. "Say nothing," said he; "smoke; it's a boy and weighs 8½ pounds." Nothing has been said.

A. C. Stover and Chas. Grady are in the city. They have located near old Fort Clark, on the Missouri, some distance above Bismarck. They report twelve settlers in that region this spring, and say the improvement in the way of breaking and building that is being done, is simply wonderful. They are in town 145, range 33. Wm. Merry, of Oak Point, is also in the city, and he reports many new settlers in his region. The next great boom will surely be heard from on the Missouri, between Bismarck and Fort Buford. This country only needs to be seen to be appreciated.

Referring to Denny Hannifin's admission to the bar at Mandan, Monday, the p. s. says: "Dennis Hannifin, the one and only Dennis of Bismarck, who has figured in volume after volume of instructive literature, to-day scored the greatest victory of his life, achieved by the heroic test he so nobly stood in connection with his admission to the bar of the territorial courts. Dennis eclipsed himself, and shone in the brilliancy of all the comets that were ever visible on this globe. His friends are prouder of him than ever, and his noble ancestors will celebrate this event by taking a tumble in their graves. Dennis proposes to practice at the bar at once, and may force his friends to do likewise before this goes to press. Shake, Blackstonian, shake."

The Globe of May 23d has the following interesting item about Mr. Sims, formerly of Bismarck: "Mr. Sims, late of Bismarck, who purchased the Bender property, Sixth street, between Hoffman and Maria avenues, has met with a rather discouraging introduction to a residence in Minnesota's capital. Desiring some repairs in his house before taking possession, he stored his household effects—all securely boxed—in the barn upon the place, a substantial structure. During Monday night the barn was broken into, the several boxes carefully sawed open, and the goods—silver, table-ware, etc., etc.—scattered over the floor and rifled. The amount of the loss is unknown, as Mrs. Sims is still in Bismarck, while Mr. Sims is absent on a business trip to Winnipeg. Residents of outlying localities cannot be too careful in guarding their premises, as it is undoubtedly a well organized band of experience house-breakers who are operating in the city and vicinity."

Struck by Lightning.

It is needless to state that there was a thunder shower Wednesday. There was one clap of thunder that made an impression on every one in this section. It came about 2:30 and, fearing that the people would forget the awful power of the God of nature, left a mark on Mr. C. R. Williams' house that will take several hundred dollars to repair and the death of that gentleman to forget. The escape of Mr. Williams is almost a miracle; in fact it only shows the respect the gods have for the Bismarck agent of Ph. Best's Milwaukee beer. The electric fluid evidently struck the east gable of the house, as that part of the building was entirely demolished. After dealing out its vengeance up stairs, it passed down into the lower-story, flooring everything that hung against the wall. A picture was knocked out of the frame, only about two feet from where Mr. Williams was standing, and, in fact, the main part of the destruction was only a few feet from him. Doors were unhinged and nearly every window in the house was broken out frame and sash. The clothes in the closet were yanked from their position and heaped up on the floor. The china closet was completely demolished. Every dish was broken and the silver ware either colored or melted. In fact, everything in the house of a metallic nature was more or less electrified. After spoiling the looks of the north side of the building, the electric bolt fell into the great reservoir of electricity, the earth. Probably a more complete wreck was never made by lightning. Luckily Mrs. Williams was east visiting, although, as in the case of Mr. Williams, she might have also miraculously escaped. Mrs. Barclay, who was engaged in arranging domestic affairs of the house, was in the yard, immediately behind the building, at the time, and was considerably shocked. Even the stable, a hundred feet from the house, was filled with dense smoke and shows the effects of the shock. The damage to the furniture and stock will probably not fall short of $1,000.

The Missouri River Country.

Talk of the beauties of the Yellow stone, the excellence of the Mouse river country, or the richness of the Red river valley, but none of these present advantages equal to those to be found in the Missouri river valley, extending over six hundred miles through the Bismarck land district. The river is navigable, and affords at once access to markets. The lands are as rich as any on the face of the earth, and are particularly adapted to the growth of wheat, oats, barley and corn. Cattle feed on the prairies during the entire winter, on the nutritious buffalo grasses without provisions of hay or grain. There is plenty of timber, the water is all that could be desired, and coal is abundant and within the reach of all.

Thousands of families can in this valley find free lands, under the homestead and tree culture laws, and hundreds can buy desirable tracts of railroad lands. Here villages will spring up, as they have on other portions of the Missouri river.

In no land district in the United States can there be found such a field for those seeking homes. In no land district can there be found such an extent of navigable waters—such an extent of valley and upland. The country only needs to be seen to be appreciated.

Bismarck a Buoy Town.

Mr. H. S. Parkin, of the new town of Springdale, on the Missouri river, below Fort Yates, came in from a trip east Sunday night, and leaves for his home to-day. He says at St. Paul the belief is general that the bottom has dropped out of the Winnipeg boom. At Fargo, business seemed to be lively, but the crops in the Red river valley were terribly behind. They are at least a month later than they should be to give entire satisfaction to the farmers of that section. Mr. Parkin says that Bismarck is by all odds the liveliest town west of Fargo. Jamestown, of which he had heard so much during the past season, looked dead, and the streets were deserted compared with Bismarck. This same kind of a report is brought by every traveler. The fact is, Bismarck is lively. All that is necessary to make the town a stronger magnet to the capitalist, is the building of more substantial structures. As soon as this fall's crop report is in, Bismarck will enjoy a boom of solid growth unprecedented on the line of the North Pacific.

The North Pacific Land Agency.

The office of this agency has been open but three days, and already three large tracts of land have been sold. One to a member of the Municipal Parliament, from Ontario, and the others to eastern gentlemen of large means. Fourteen men came in last night with letters to B. D. Wilcox under whose auspices they go to-day to make selections. Things are getting warm and several parties living in town have concluded to catch on before the new comers gather in all of the good things. Newspapers and live real estate agents are the mediums that attract attention and add volume to the boom, and the new firm of McKenzie & Holmes and Wilcox are coming to the front right royally in their part of the work. Mr. Wilcox, who has charge of the North Pacific agency, and who is operating with McKenzie & Holmes, is the right man in the right place, and the Tribune believes with the assistance of his associates will work wonders this season for the Missouri valley.

SACKED TO THE MEMORY
Of Mrs. W. H. Parkhurst, Who Died in Bismarck Last Summer.

Bishop Clarkson styles the Episcopal church at Bismarck the neatest in Dakota. It was built upon plans furnished by the Bishop, and cost about $3,000, of which the bishop furnished $1,500. The grounds, worth about $1,500, were contributed by Thomas H. Canfield, of Vermont. The church is nicely carpeted and well furnished. The site overlooks the city, and the river for many miles, and although it is some distance out now, it will soon be surrounded by elegant residences. While the congregation is small and those called upon to contribute sometimes feel that to sustain the church, as it ought to be supported, requires much at their hands, there is no lack of interest. Yesterday E. W. Parkhurst placed in the west side of the church at the north end, a pair of memorial windows which cost about six hundred dollars. They are the joint contribution of Mr. Geo. I. Morrison, chief engineer of the Bismarck bridge, and his assistant, Mr. H. W. Parkhurst, to the memory of Mrs. Parkhurst, who died at Bismarck last summer. The windows were designed by John LaFage, of New York, and are as fine as anything he has ever made. On the base of the left window are the words "In Memoriam" on the other, "Leah F. Parkhurst." In the summit of the arch of the left hand window is the date of birth, 1847—in the other 1881, date of death. On the left window there appears a beautiful female figure offering a pot of ointment, emblematic of unselfishness. On the right a female figure holding a lily, emblematic of purity. The windows are heavy plate, stained, and set in metal. The colors are bright and appropriate and the effect is very beautiful indeed.

Mrs. Parkhurst was a most excellent lady, esteemed by all who knew her for her generous impulses and for the purity of her life, and this memorial is not only a handsome tribute to her worth, but a token of the good qualities of head and heart of the bereaved husband and friend who joined in this contribution.

The Turtle Mountain Region.

The opening up of the Turtle Mountain country to settlement throws into the market over 9,000,000 acres of valuable land, a large portion of which is tributary to Bismarck. Speaking of the boundaries, the Pioneer Press says: "Beginning at the east end of Devil's Lake, D. T., along the eastern boundary line of the Sioux reservation, which lies immediately south of the lake course, south 20 degrees 30 minutes east to the Cheyenne river, thence to Stump Lake, thence to the headwaters of Salt creek, thence due north to the international boundary line, thence along the international line west to La Roche Perce, thence in a southerly direction to the headwaters of the Knife river, thence to Dog's Den, thence to west end of Devil's lake, thence to north shore of Devil's lake to the place of beginning. This includes all or portions of the counties of Pembina, Cavalier, Ramsey and Grand Forks, all of them of huge inter-boundary dimensions. The country has not been surveyed, but that omission will speedily be rectified. Already there are thousands of squatters on the land who have pushed as far west as the Souris or Mouse river, and north to the boundary, tempted by the arable land, of which there are unmeasured quantities, said to be by those who have traversed it as good in character as any in the Red or Missouri valleys, and specially adapted to the raising of wheat. The territory is traversed by almost countless streams, but of wood there is not an abundance until Turtle Mountain itself is reached. This elevational formation, which lies partly within and partly without the United States, is heavily wooded and the timber is of many varieties, conifers being in the ascendency. For many years the land now to be thrown open to settlement has been viewed with covetous eyes, but until lately the impossibility of getting a good title prevented any appreciable settlement. One of the greatest features of the secretary's decision will be the exodus from Manitoba and the Northwestern territory into Northern Dakota. Thousands who moved into the Dominion will emigrate therefrom to this side. Of course railways will soon enter the newly opened district."

A Murderer Captured.

On the 11th of April last a colored man named Jack Hunt killed another colored man in Missouri, and escaped. The authorities of that state offered a reward of $500 for Hunt's capture, and since then the authorities all over the northwest have been on the look-out. Some time ago detective O'Connor came upon him in St. Paul, and after a tussle, during which shots were fired on both sides, Hunt escaped minus his coat. Hunt then came to Dakota, and learning of this, O'Connor telegraphed Sheriff McKenzie of this city, who spotted the man on the steamer Dacotah en route up the river. He had shaved his moustache off and changed his name to Davis. McKenzie telegraphed to U. S. Deputy Marshal Ayatt at Fort Buford, also to the commanding officer of that post to be on the look-out for the Dacotah and arrest the murderer. The Dacotah arrived, and Ayatt telegraphed that Davis last season worked on the Peninah and that he could not be the man. McKenzie immediately telegraphed to hold the man, as he was certain of his man. Ayatt, it seems, then took charge of the man and is now in Benton with him. This prompt action upon the part of Sheriff McKenzie entitles him to a part of the $500 reward.
